Flex Spanish 6 - Mrs. FamosoStudent Comment:

Nice job in Spanish this term. Even though your foundation prior to this class was minimal, you managed to learn new vocabulary and basic grammar concepts satisfactorily. Continue to work on pronunciation and making sure you double check your final work before submitting it. Keep working on paying more attention to spelling during quizzes and tests to avoid careless mistakes. Good luck on your next foreign language class next school year

MS Advisory - Mrs. Guering, Mr. HughesStudent Comment:

It has been a pleasure having JinJin in the Guering/Hughes advisory this year. JinJin has had an excellent year at the Middle School. She has earned top grades and has become a confident leader and participant in her classes. JinJin started the year with good study habits, she used her planner, listened attentively in the classroom, and used her time inside and outside of class constructively. As the year progressed, JinJin continued to impress me with her excellent work habits. She was not afraid to ask teachers questions, and she always had a positive attitude and clear sense of purpose. JinJin went right to work during conference time, and often helped others who didn't write down assignments properly. She is an attentive listener which serves her well in the classroom. Teachers noted in report card comments that JinJin would ask questions and stay after class for clarification or additional information. I would encourage JinJin to continue to see teachers next year during conference time for enrichment activities or additional exploration of concepts.

JinJin has done exceptionally well in navigating the intricacies of Middle School, including the social aspects. She is friendly with all her advisory classmates. They look up to her as someone who is knowledgeable, kind, and helpful. She has also developed good friendships with Sia and other students outside the advisory.

It was a pleasure having JinJin in library class and Book Club. Book Club is an area where it's obvious that JinJin feels comfortable with friends and books. She reads a variety of genres, and asks insightful questions about the books. I know that she and Sia will be ready for the Battle of the Books next year! I'm sure JinJin will find many books on the summer reading list that she enjoys, she may consider Echo Mountain, Daughter of the Moon Goddess, and The Next Great Paulie Fink. I hope that next year JinJin continues to play her flute, swim, and participate in other clubs and activities that she enjoys. Have a wonderful summer!

MS Girls Lacrosse - Mrs. Messner

Student Comment:

What an amazing year we had in lacrosse, completing an undefeated season is never easy! Our success would not have been possible without all of your hard work this season. The coaching staff knows it is not always easy coming in as a sixth grader but your dedication to improving made your transition seamless. We are so proud of all you were able to accomplish this year. Looking to next year we are confident you will be able to contribute to our team's continued success as a more senior teammate. Jinjin, thank you so much for joining the lacrosse team this year. The coaching staff enjoyed watching you develop and grow as a player. Please take the time during the off season to work on continuing to solidify your fundamentals. Great work this year!
